June has been a great month for us. Every church we presented our ministry at was within a three hour drive from our home. This was our last month to enjoy the comforts of home before we truly hit the road.

Our deputation travels have been busy. We started the month with a Vacation Bible School, then we attended a missions conference in the middle of the month, and finished by helping out at a couple of our church camps. We also visited many churches for a day or two in between. We have been on deputation for five months now, visiting thirty-four churches so far this year. God has allowed us to raise 28% of our monthly support, and it has been a blessing to meet new friends along the way. Please keep us in your prayers as we travel. We are heading to Oklahoma and Texas for July and August.

While traveling to different churches, opportunities to serve have presented themselves. The pictures below give a glimpse of how God used us this past month. On the left, I was able to play the accordion and teach junior church while Jaime ran a review game. In the middle, I preached at a junior camp. On the far right, I gave a lesson during Vacation Bible School.

This past month, we were also able to help out at our home church's camp. One evening, Jaime noticed a girl in our youth department keeping to herself. When asked what was wrong, the girl admitted she was not saved. Jaime was able to help her get that settled that night. The next day, I was driving home from a meeting. Around midnight, I stopped at a gas station to stay awake. As I paid, I handed the clerk a gospel tract. Walking away, I heard another clerk say, "My friend got one of those yesterday." When the clerk I handed the tract to asked if it was worth reading, the other replied, "Yes, I never heard anything like it, and it really got me to thinking." This was a reminder that gospel tracts still work. I do not know who planted the first seed, but it reached a second person who had never understood the gospel of Christ.

Prayer requests- 1.Travel Safety 2. Raise Support 3. Witnessing Opportunities
