August has been a month of Texas meetings, wonderful people, and plenty of laughs. I have enjoyed playing my guitar during the congregational singing and teaching kids classes and school chapels with the help of my coyote friend, Pewter.

As we travel, Jaime and I have been intentional about handing out Gospel tracts. It is easy as Christians to get caught up in our daily lives and miss opportunities that God has for us to witness to people. One of the most memorable moments this month was in a Louisiana cafe, where a man named Fred sat down at the table next to us and struck up a conversation. In the conversation, he mentioned he had beaten cancer. He then said, "I do not know why God spared my life." I jumped on that opportunity! I handed him a tract, and suggested maybe it was to meet us. Fred told us that a local Christian man had been trying to share the Gospel with him for years. I am not making this up—that exact Christian man walked in the diner moments later. Pray for Fred, he knows the truth of the Gospel, but for some reason he just struggles to trust in Christ.

As we left the cafe, that same Christian man paid for our lunch and gave us $200 for our travels! While we certainly do not hand out tracts for cash, it is incredible to think of the blessing we would have missed had we stayed silent.

Deputation travel is moving along well. We leave Texas in September for meetings in Indiana, Kansas, and Missouri, and we are currently at 29% of our goal.

Prayer Requests: 1. Travel Safety 2. Ministry Opportunities 3. Support
